UBA Foundation Marks World Environment Day 2026 with Tree-Planting Initiative in Iconic Lagos Schools

Lagos, Nigeria – June 5, 2026: In commemoration of World Environment Day 2026, the UBA Foundation, the Corporate Social Responsibility arm of United Bank for Africa (UBA) Group, has reinforced its commitment to environmental sustainability through a tree-planting exercise at two of Lagos' most iconic educational institutions – King's College, Lagos, and CMS Grammar School, Bariga.

The exercise marks the commencement of the Foundation's 2026 Tree Planting for Sustainability Initiative, which is being implemented across selected schools in Nigeria to promote environmental consciousness among young people and encourage climate-positive action.

Observed annually on June 5 and coordinated by the United Nations, World Environment Day is the world's leading platform for environmental awareness and advocacy. The 2026 theme, "Inspired by Nature. For Climate. For Our Future," underscores the urgent need for collective action to address climate change and environmental degradation.

Speaking during the exercise at CMS Grammar School, Managing Director/ CEO of UBA Foundation, Bola Atta, described the initiative as a strategic investment in the future. "We want young people to understand that the environment needs our collective support and protection. Through initiatives like this, we are encouraging the next generation to embrace sustainable practices that will help create healthier communities and a better future for all," she said.

Now in its fourth year, the Tree Planting for Sustainability Initiative is designed to instil environmental responsibility in students by integrating sustainability practices into school communities and empowering young people to become environmental ambassadors.

Atta explained that the choice of King's College and CMS Grammar School was deliberate, reflecting both institutions' rich heritage and their capacity to sustain the initiative over time.

"These are iconic institutions with deep historical significance. CMS Grammar School is Nigeria's oldest secondary school, while King's College has been shaping leaders for more than a century. We wanted schools where these trees will be nurtured and allowed to flourish for generations to come," she noted.

The initiative comes at a time when rapid urbanisation has continued to reduce green spaces across many Nigerian cities, highlighting the need for sustained environmental restoration efforts.

"Over the years, development has often taken precedence over environmental preservation, leading to the loss of many trees and green areas. However, there is no better time than now to begin restoring our environment and making a lasting impact," Atta added.

The exercise forms part of UBA Group's broader commitment to Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) principles.

Speaking at the event, UBA's Group Chief Risk Officer, Awele Ajibola, emphasized the importance of proactive environmental stewardship in addressing climate-related risks.

"At UBA, initiatives like this demonstrate our commitment to the environment and the communities we serve. Climate change presents real and growing risks, and as a responsible financial institution, we recognise our role in driving positive environmental action and sustainable development," Ajibola stated.

The tree-planting exercise is one of several activities being implemented by the Group to commemorate #WED2026. Other activities include UBA's inauguration as a member of the Finance Taskforce for Plastic Action in Nigeria, Green Talk sessions with customers across branches, the launch of Sustainability Clubs in participating schools, environmental awareness campaigns across the Bank's communication platforms, and a month-long Green Challenge designed to encourage environmentally responsible behaviour.

Commending the initiative, Principal of CMS Grammar School, Revd. Jacob Ayokunle Ogunyinka, described the exercise as a practical extension of environmental education.

"Our students learn about the importance of trees and environmental conservation in the classroom. Seeing these principles demonstrated in practice deepens their understanding and inspires greater responsibility towards protecting the environment," he said.

UBA Wins 2026 Banker Technology Award for AI Innovation, Launches Upgraded Mobile App

Africa's global bank, United Bank for Africa (UBA) Plc, has been named the winner of the African category at the 2026 Banker Technology Awards, recognised for its innovations in digital payments, e-business, and the use of artificial intelligence to drive seamless cross-border banking across more than 20 African markets.

The Banker Technology Awards received close to 200 submissions across 17 regional and product categories this year, with the cohort of winners reflecting a broad shift in how financial institutions are deploying technology as infrastructure embedded across payments, compliance, lending, and customer engagement.

In its assessment of UBA's winning entry, The Banker noted that "the bank has cemented its status as a leading digital operator by placing technology at the centre of its growth strategy across more than 20 countries, with this approach most visible in its work on cross-border transfers, spanning digital payments, AI-driven engagement, and e-business

UBA's recognition centres on integrating Leo, its AI-powered chatbot, with the Pan-African Payment and Settlement System (PAPSS), enabling customers to send funds across borders in local currencies via a conversational interface.

UBA's Executive Director Designate, Digital Banking, Emmanuel Lamptey, who received the award on behalf of the bank, emphasised the bank's aim to fully digitise banking across the entire continent

"Africa's financial future will not be built on branches or borders. It will be built on intelligence, interoperability, and trust at scale," Lamptey said.

He added that the bank's investment in Leo was a direct response to the cost and friction that has long defined cross-border payments on the continent. "Across a continent where cross-border transfers have historically been slow and costly, Leo reduces friction at the point of transaction, removing reliance on traditional banking channels without requiring customers to change how they communicate," Lamptey said.

Alongside the award, UBA has relaunched its RedApp mobile banking platform following a comprehensive upgrade. The revamped application is designed to deliver a faster, more intuitive digital banking experience for customers across the bank's markets, and can be downloaded at https://on.ubagroup.com/redapp.

Women Traditional Worshippers In Abeokuta Hold Ritual Prayers for Oyo Abductees

Lauretta Fagbohun
Abeokuta

Women traditional worshippers from across Egbaland embarked on a spiritual procession through major shrines and cultural landmarks in Abeokuta, Ogun State, offering ritual prayers for the safe return of victims abducted in Oyo State.

Dressed in white traditional attire and carrying sacred ritual objects, the women moved from one shrine to another, invoking ancestral spirits and revered deities to intervene in the plight of the abductees and restore peace and security across Yorubaland.

The spiritual exercise was led by the Yeye Olokun Agbaye and Olori of Orile-Ilawo Kingdom, Dr. Omolara Fashola-MacGregor, who described the gathering as a solemn appeal to the gods and ancestors to protect innocent citizens and secure the release of those held captive by kidnappers.

The worshippers visited several revered sites, including the shrines at Olumo Rock, Lisabi Agbongbo-Akala, and the shrine of the legendary Egba warrior, Sodeke, before concluding the exercise at the Itoku shrine located at Orita Aje Junction in Abeokuta.

At each location, special prayers and traditional rites were performed for the victims, their families, and the nation's security agencies, with participants calling for divine intervention in the growing wave of kidnappings and insecurity.

Speaking with journalists during the procession, Fashola-MacGregor said the initiative was motivated by deep concern over the fate of schoolchildren, teachers, and other Nigerians currently in captivity.

Guinness Nigeria Named Consumer Goods Company of the Year at Nairametrics Capital Market Awards 2026

Guinness Nigeria Plc has been named Consumer Goods Company of the Year at the prestigious Nairametrics Capital Market Awards 2026, reinforcing its position as one of Nigeria's leading consumer goods companies and a strong performer in the Nigerian capital market.

The company was nominated in two highly competitive categories, Company of the Year and Consumer Goods Company of the Year, in recognition of its strong financial performance, operational excellence, and consistent delivery of value to shareholders.

Held on Friday, June 5, 2026, in Lagos, the Nairametrics Capital Market Awards celebrate excellence among listed companies and market operators, assessing nominees across key performance indicators including revenue growth, profit after tax growth, return on average equity, operating margin, market share growth, and cost efficiency.

Emerging as the winner in the Consumer Goods Company of the Year category, Guinness Nigeria was recognised for its sustained growth, disciplined execution, and resilience in navigating a dynamic operating environment.

Commenting on the recognition, Rotimi Odusola, Corporate Relations and Legal Director, Guinness Nigeria Plc, described the award as an affirmation of the company's commitment to creating sustainable value for all stakeholders.

"Winning the Consumer Goods Company of the Year award is a significant honour and a strong endorsement of our commitment to sustainable growth, operational excellence, and long term value creation. This recognition reflects the dedication of our people, the trust of our consumers, customers, investors, and partners, as well as the strength of our business transformation journey. At Guinness Nigeria, we remain focused on building a high performing business that delivers strong financial results while creating shared value and contributing meaningfully to Nigeria's economic development."

The recognition comes amid continued momentum for Guinness Nigeria as the company advances its strategic priorities through portfolio optimisation, operational efficiency, innovation, and the delivery of memorable consumer experiences across its brands.

Also commenting on the award, Ramanathan Solayappan, Marketing & Innovations Director, Guinness Nigeria Plc, said the recognition validates the company's consumer first approach and the enduring strength of its brands.

LCCI warns against economic impact of SSB tax bill

By: Tijani Salako

The Lagos Chamber of Commerce and Industry has expressed concern over the passage of the Sugar-Sweetened Beverage Tax Bill by the Senate, warning that the policy could worsen the challenges already facing Nigeria's manufacturing sector.

This was disclosed in a press statement issued by the Director-General of the Lagos Chamber of Commerce and Industry, Dr. Chinyere Almona, who stated that while the chamber acknowledged the government's objective of addressing public health concerns linked to excessive sugar consumption, policymakers must also consider the wider economic implications of the tax.

According to the chamber, public health interventions should be carefully designed to achieve intended health outcomes without imposing excessive costs on businesses, consumers, and the broader economy.

The LCCI noted that manufacturers are currently battling high energy costs, exchange rate volatility, elevated interest rates, logistics constraints, multiple taxation, and weak consumer purchasing power.

It warned that imposing additional taxes on the beverage industry could further increase production costs, which may eventually be transferred to consumers through higher product prices.

The chamber added that the development could worsen inflationary pressures and reduce demand for locally manufactured products.

The LCCI also expressed concern that the tax may have unintended consequences across the industrial value chain, noting that the beverage sector supports suppliers, distributors, transport operators, retailers, farmers, and other service providers.

It stated that any decline in production volumes resulting from increased taxation could lead to lower investments, reduced capacity utilisation, and potential job losses across related sectors.

Nigeria will never surrender to terrorists, bandits —Tinubu vows

President Bola Tinubu has vowed never to succumb to terrorism, banditry or any form of criminal intimidation, promising to intensify efforts at reducing the economic hardship confronting Nigerians.

Tinubu made these remarks through the Secretary to the Government of the Federation, George Akume, on Sunday at the National Inter-Denominational Church Service held at the National Christian Centre in Abuja, as part of activities marking the 2026 Democracy Day celebration.

The service, themed "God of Hope, Actualise Our Dreams," was attended by Senate President Godswill Akpabio, Deputy Speaker of the House of Representatives Benjamin Okezie Kalu, Minister of Foreign Affairs Bianca Odumegwu-Ojukwu, and the Head of Civil Service of the Federation, Mrs. Didi Walson-Jack.

The SGF, while delivering President Tinubu's message, congratulated Nigerians on 27 uninterrupted years of democratic rule since 1999, describing the milestone as a testament to the resilience and sacrifices of citizens who fought for the restoration of democracy.

He paid tributes to pro-democracy activists of the June 12 struggle, noting that many endured persecution, injuries and death in that quest.

According to him, the government was fully aware of the economic strain, insecurity, kidnappings and displacement affecting communities across the country.

"The government is sensitive to all these pains, shares in these pains and has heard your cries," he said, adding that Tinubu was addressing the challenges with compassion and a strong sense of responsibility.

Speaking on security, the President described recent attacks and abductions as painful reminders that more work remained to be done, but assured citizens that the safe return of all persons in captivity remained a national priority.

NCC Applauds Ministerial Initiative on Girls ICT Empowerment

...Hosts 185 students on industry excursion tour

The Nigerian Communications Commission (NCC) has commended the Hon. Minister of Communications, Innovation and Digital Economy, Dr. Bosun Tijani, for championing initiatives aimed at empowering the younger generation with digital knowledge and skills, especially the Nigerian girls.

Speaking while conducting 185 contestants of the 2026 National Girls in ICT (NG-ICT) Competition on a tour of the National Communication Museum domiciled at the Commission in Abuja on Thursday, the Executive Vice Charman (EVC) of the NCC, Dr. Aminu Maida, said the initiative also aligns with the Commission's digital literacy advocacy.

The contestants were selected by the Ministry across the country's geo-political zones for competition to promote digital inclusion and inspire greater participation of girls in Information and Communication Technology (ICT) and other Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) disciplines.

The visit to the Commission by the students formed part of activities organised by the Minister under the National Girls in ICT Programme, an initiative aimed at bridging the gender gap in the technology sector by equipping young girls with digital skills, mentorship opportunities and exposure to innovation.

Court Declares National Assembly's N110 Billion SUV and Allowance Schemes Unlawful

The Federal High Court sitting in Lagos has, in a landmark judgment, declared unlawful the National Assembly's controversial N110 billion vehicle and allowance schemes, ruling that the spending of N40 billion on 465 vehicles for lawmakers and N70 billion in support allowances for newly elected members breached procurement laws, constitutional obligations and the public trust.

The court also ordered the Senate President, Mr Godswill Akpabio and Speaker of House of Representatives, Mr Tajudeen Abbas "to ensure that all future procurements or expenditure of public funds by the National Assembly comply strictly with due process requirements and are also guided by the principles of transparency, accountability and value for money."

The judgment was delivered on Wednesday, May 6, 2026 by Justice Yellim Bogoro in Suit No. FHC/L/CS/1606/2023 brought by the Socio-Economic Rights and Accountability Project (SERAP) against the National Assembly. The certified true copy of the judgment was obtained last week.

SERAP filed the lawsuit in August 2023 against Mr Akpabio and Mr Abbas, for themselves and on behalf of members of their respective chambers, following plans to spend N40 billion on 465 vehicles and N70 billion in allowances for new lawmakers amid worsening economic hardship across the country.

In her judgment, Justice Bogoro held that: "Looking at the magnitude of the expenditure, coupled with the absence of demonstrable due process, leads me to conclude that the procurement is arbitrary, disproportionate and inconsistent with statutory procurement standards."

Justice Bogoro also held that: "The beneficiaries of the expenditure are the very officials approving it, and the expenditure confers direct pecuniary and material benefits. This to my mind constitutes a case of self-dealing and conflict of interest."

Justice Bogoro's judgment, read in part: "I have taken judicial notice of the economic realities in Nigeria and the widespread financial hardship affecting Nigerian citizens. In this context, the allocation of N110 Billion for the benefit of lawmakers demonstrates a failure to prioritize national interest."

"The Defendants have urged the Court to decline jurisdiction on grounds of legislative autonomy. It should be noted that the doctrine of separation of powers does not operate as a shield for illegality. It is noteworthy to state that the Court is concerned on the legality and constitutionality of legislative spending."

Justice Bogoro's judgment, read in part: "The allocation of N110 Billion for the benefit of lawmakers also undermines the fiduciary duty owed to the Nigerian people. Public office must not be used for personal enrichment. Public Officers must act within constitutional boundaries and in good faith. I hold that the conduct complained of is inconsistent with the oath of office."

"The Defendants [Mr Akpabio, Mr Abbas, and members of the Senate and House of Representatives] formulated two principal issues for determination in response to SERAP's Originating Summons; firstly: 'Whether in the circumstances of this case, this Honourable Court possesses the requisite jurisdiction to entertain the suit.'

"Secondly, 'Whether SERAP has adduced sufficient evidence to warrant the grant of the declarations, orders, and injunctions sought.'"

"I have earlier somewhere in this Judgment reproduced the question for determination as proposed by SERAP. But I will quickly state that SERAP has sought for the judicial interpretation of constitutional and statutory provisions in relation to the proposed expenditure of public funds by the Defendants."

"The gravemen of SERAP's case is that the planned use of the N40 Billion for procurement of vehicles and N70 Billion as support allowances under the Supplementary Appropriation Act 2022 (signed in 2023) is unlawful and in breach of Section 57(4) of the Public Procurement Act, 2007; paragraph 1 Part 1, Fifth Schedule (Code of Conduct for Public Officers) and Oath of Office under the Seventh Schedule of the Nigerian Constitution 1999 [as amended]."

"Brief facts of the case as could be gleaned from the affidavit in support. It is that the Defendants allegedly approved the purchase of 465 Bulletproof vehicles at about N305 Million Naira per vehicle the total project cost is N110 Billion that the expenditure is excessive and violates the Nigerian Constitution, the Public Procurement Act 2007, and the remuneration framework of the Revenue Mobilization Allocation and Fiscal Commission (RMAFC)."

"It is the submission of SERAP that it wrote a letter to each of the Defendants requesting for a reversal of the decision which was ignored. The Defendants denied the allegations and assert that the claims are based on media speculation, that the expenditure was lawful and duly appropriated, the funds have already been expended, the suit is academic and that there is no valid pre-action notice served."

The Management of the Transmission Company of Nigeria, TCN, has formally granted access to Mainstream Energy Solutions Limited, MESL, operator of the Kainji Hydro Power Plant in Niger State, to commence the Kainji Switchyard Units 1G3 and 1G4 bays construction project at the Kainji Transmission Substation. The site handover was conducted on Friday, 5 June 2026.

The physical handover of the 2x330kV bays construction site is intended to facilitate the start of construction activities, including civil, electrical, and mechanical works, as well as testing, commissioning, and all other approved project tasks.

After completion, the 220MW capacity bays will enable the evacuation of the two additional IG3 and IG4 turbines with capacity to generate 110MW each, totalling 220MW, which is to be installed in Kainji power station.

During the signing and handover ceremony on behalf of TCN, General Manager, Materials Control and Stores, and Chairman of the Project Technical Committee, Engr. Abdulkadir Gwaram Adamu, stated that the event marked a critical milestone and that its execution will enable TCN evacuate power that will be generated by MESL's new turbines on completion into the national grid.

NUPRC, NNRA Join Forces to Strengthen Radiation Safety in Oil & Gas Sector

... Move Aims to Cut Regulatory Costs, Improve Ease of Doing Business

By| Goodluck E.Adubazi, Abuja

The Nigerian Upstream Petroleum Regulatory Commission (NUPRC) and the Nigerian Nuclear Regulatory Authority (NNRA) have agreed to deepen collaboration to enhance radiation safety in Nigeria's oil and gas industry while reducing regulatory burdens and operational costs for industry players.

The partnership was announced following a high-level meeting between the Commission Chief Executive of NUPRC, Mrs. Oritsemeyiwa Eyesan, and the Director-General/Chief Executive Officer of NNRA, Dr. Yau Idris, at the NUPRC headquarters.

The collaboration seeks to address regulatory overlaps, improve compliance, and ensure safer handling of radioactive materials and radiation-emitting equipment widely used in upstream petroleum operations.

Panic as fire guts plastic store near filling station in Osogbo

Residents and business owners around the Old Garage area of Osogbo, Osun State, were thrown into panic on Sunday after a fire outbreak engulfed a store used for keeping plastic containers.

The inferno, which started around 2 p.m., triggered fears among residents due to the store's location near a filling station and the Dugbe Divisional Headquarters of the Nigeria Police Force.

As of about 7:10 p.m., firefighters were still battling to bring the blaze under control and prevent it from spreading to nearby buildings.

Witnesses said thick smoke was first noticed rising from the building in the afternoon, prompting an emergency call to the Osun State Fire Service.

A petty trader in the area, Modupe Olatoye, said residents quickly alerted firefighters after spotting the smoke.

"We noticed smoke coming from the building around 2 p.m. and immediately contacted the fire station at Oke Fia. The firefighters responded promptly and have been working tirelessly to contain the fire since then," she said.

Olatoye noted that the situation caused anxiety among traders and residents because the affected building is surrounded by other structures and located close to a fuel station.

Boko Haram frees 416 abducted Ngoshe Women, Children

Suspected Boko Haram terrorists have released 416 women and children abducted from the Ngoshe community in the Gwoza Local Government Area of Borno State.

The President of the Borno South Youth Alliance, Samaila Kaigama, confirmed the development on Sunday.

Kaigama said the captives were released on June 6.

According to him, BOSYA had been involved in efforts to secure the freedom of the abductees.

He said, "BOSYA has secured the release of all the Ngoshe 416 women and children. They were released on 06 of June.

"We are happy and grateful that through our efforts, our persistent cries, and long discussions, the results are now being seen."

Kaigama called on the Federal Government, Borno State Government and the relevant local government authorities to ensure proper screening of the released captives.

Efforts to get a reaction from the Borno State Commissioner for Information and Internal Security, Usman Tar, were unsuccessful, as several calls to him went unanswered as of press time.

The insurgents were said to have burnt operational vehicles, dispersed security forces, killed an unspecified number of people and abducted several residents.

Previous reports had indicated that BOSYA had been communicating with the press and serving as an intermediary between the terrorist group and the affected victims after Boko Haram displayed the abducted captives.

Two infants die as Troops rescue 360 Abducted Civilians in Borno

Troops of the North-East Joint Task Force, Operation Hadin Kai, in collaboration with Special Operations Forces, have rescued about 360 civilians abducted by terrorists from Ngoshe community in Gwoza Local Government Area of Borno State.

Military sources who spoke with Vanguard said the operation was conducted on June 6 across several locations around the Mandara Mountains.

According to the sources, Special Operations Forces first carried out preliminary missions that disrupted terrorist camps in the area.

The operation created the conditions for troops of the 26 Task Force Brigade to extract the captives.

The victims were among residents abducted during an attack on the Ngoshe community on March 3, 2026.

Earlier updates from Operation Hadin Kai had indicated that some of the captives were rescued during previous operations in the Mandara Mountains, an area believed to serve as a hideout for insurgents.

The latest operation, however, recorded a tragic setback as two infants reportedly died during the rescue effort.

Sources said the deaths occurred because of the difficult terrain encountered while evacuating victims to safety.

A military source said all rescued persons received immediate medical screening upon arrival.

"Those requiring urgent medical attention were stabilised by brigade medical personnel and admitted to the General Hospital, Gwoza, for treatment," the source said.

The rescued civilians were also provided with food, water and other relief materials.

They were later moved to a secure holding facility pending their handover to relevant authorities and reunification with their families.

Security sources described the operation as a major humanitarian and operational success in efforts to rescue civilians and weaken terrorist networks in remote parts of the North-East.

They added that although the security situation in the area remained relatively calm, troops would continue to maintain vigilance and operational readiness.

NDLEA uncovers 320,840 tramadol pills in truck, arrests 75-year-old suspect

The National Drug Law Enforcement Agency says it has intercepted large consignments of opioids and other illicit substances concealed in a truck conveying building materials in Taraba State, while also arresting a 75-year-old man in Ebonyi and four female drug suspects in separate operations across Edo, Imo, Kano and Gombe states.

This was contained in a statement issued on Sunday by Femi Babafemi, Director, Media and Advocacy, NDLEA Headquarters, Abuja.

According to the agency, the Taraba interception followed credible intelligence that led operatives to a truck conveying building materials from Onitsha, Anambra State, to Jalingo.

"A thorough search of the vehicle by NDLEA operatives at the Nukkai Timber Shade, Jalingo, led to the discovery of a massive drug stash concealed beneath the cargo, while a 22-year-old suspect, Buhari Abdullahi, was promptly arrested," the statement said.

Recovered from the truck were "320,840 capsules of tramadol; 600 ampoules of pentazocine injection; 4,500 pills of rohypnol; and 299 bottles of codeine-based cough syrup."

In Ebonyi State, operatives arrested a 75-year-old man, Okebe Samuel, at Okposi, who was allegedly found with 300 grams of skunk.

"Demonstrating that age is no barrier to the enforcement of the law, NDLEA operatives in Ebonyi State tracked down and arrested a 75-year-old grandpa, Okebe Samuel, at Okposi. The septuagenarian was found in possession of 300 grams of skunk, which he sells in retail sachets to the youth in his community," the agency said.

In Imo State, NDLEA officers raided a drug enclave at Umulolo, Orlu, where a female suspect, Chioma Okeke (32), was arrested and 8 kilograms of skunk recovered.

In Edo State, the agency said four traffickers, including three women, were arrested during raids in Benin City on Tuesday, 2 June 2026.

At Uyosa, Chioma Igba (24) and Precious Ozomah (22) were arrested with "176 grams of skunk, 65 grams of Loud, and 5 grams of Methamphetamine."

Along Agbor Road, Benin City, Anita Abraham (21) was arrested with "95 grams of Scottish Loud and 329 grams of regular Loud," while Henry Okey (43) was arrested at Upper Mission with assorted psychotropic substances.

In Kano State, operatives arrested Saifullahi Lawan (19) at Kafi area of Madobi on Thursday, 4 June 2026, with "40 blocks of skunk weighing a total of 38 kilograms."

In Gombe State, Ugwu Sabastine Ifebuchi (28) was intercepted near Dantiti Plaza in Tumfure area with "15,000 capsules of tramadol."

Grenada Opens New Frontier Of Investment Opportunities For Nigerians

Nigerian investors, entrepreneurs and businesses are being presented with new opportunities to expand their footprint beyond Africa as Grenada emerges as one of the Caribbean's most attractive destinations for investment, trade, tourism and business development. Addressing journalists in Lagos after a recent working visit to Grenada, the Honorary Consul of Grenada in Nigeria, H.E. BidemiSonoiki, highlighted the country's growing appeal as an investment destination for Nigerians and outlined fresh opportunities across aviation, tourism, real estate, healthcare, education, agriculture, logistics and financial services. According to Sonoiki, the growing relationship between Nigeria and Grenada is creating a unique platform for Nigerian investors seeking international expansion, market diversification and access to new growth opportunities across the Caribbean region. He noted that the relationship has evolved significantly in recent years, moving beyond historical and cultural ties to become a strategic partnership centred on investment, commerce, innovation, education and sustainable economic development. "Today, Grenada presents a compelling opportunity for Nigerian investors and entrepreneurs looking to access new markets beyond Africa. We are witnessing the emergence of a strategic economic corridor between Africa and the Caribbean, one that offers immense opportunities for trade, investment, tourism, education and business growth," he said. The partnership between both countries has gained momentum since the establishment of the Honorary Consulate of Grenada in Lagos in 2022. Since then, bilateral engagements have expanded considerably, leading to the establishment of the Nigeria-Grenada Chamber of Commerce, enhanced diplomatic cooperation, growing private-sector engagement and increased collaboration across healthcare, education and economic development. One of the most notable developments is Grenada's decision to offer visa-free access to Nigerians, a move expected to facilitate business travel, tourism, educational exchanges and investment exploration. According to Sonoiki, the policy reflects Grenada's commitment to strengthening economic relations with Nigeria while creating a more enabling environment for business collaboration between both countries. "Visa-free access removes a significant barrier to engagement. It enables Nigerian investors, business owners and professionals to explore opportunities in Grenada more easily and creates a stronger foundation for commercial cooperation." Another major area of ongoing engagement is the proposed development of direct aviation connectivity between Nigeria and the Caribbean. Sonoiki described the initiative as potentially transformative for trade and investment flows between both regions expressing confidencethat this will become a reality in the next six months He explained that direct air connectivity would significantly improve business travel, facilitate cargo movement, strengthen tourism and create new commercial opportunities for businesses operating across Africa and the Caribbean. "Connectivity is one of the most important enablers of economic growth. Establishing direct links between Nigeria and the Caribbean would unlock enormous opportunities for trade, investment and tourism while positioning Grenada as a strategic gateway for African businesses seeking access to Caribbean markets."

Beyond its reputation as the renowned "Spice Isle" of the Caribbean, Grenada has developed into a modern and diversified economy supported by tourism, agriculture, education, financial services and a growing range of emerging industries.

Banks raise naira card spending limits abroad as FX inflows improve

By: Tijani Salako

Following sweeping financial sector reforms and the clearance of a $7bn foreign exchange backlog by the Central Bank of Nigeria under Governor Olayemi Cardoso, foreign exchange inflows into the economy rose significantly, closing 2025 at about $112bn.

The increase in autonomous FX inflows, foreign portfolio investments, and non-oil export earnings has boosted liquidity in the foreign exchange market, enabling Nigerian banks to expand naira card spending limits for international transactions while also supporting foreign direct investment into the economy.

Before the current management of the Central Bank of Nigeria assumed office in October 2023, forex scarcity remained one of the major challenges confronting the economy.

The shortage forced businesses, manufacturers, and travellers to rely heavily on the parallel market to access foreign exchange, fuelling speculative activities and widening the gap between official and unofficial exchange rates.

In response, the Cardoso-led CBN introduced a series of reforms aimed at attracting foreign capital, restoring investor confidence, and achieving exchange rate and price stability.

Among the major reforms were the liberalisation of the foreign exchange market and the halt of direct central bank financing of fiscal deficits. The measures helped improve investor sentiment, enabling Nigeria's return to the international capital market in December 2025 and contributing to positive assessments from global rating agencies.

The reforms have also strengthened external reserves and improved liquidity across the FX market, prompting banks to gradually resume international transactions on naira debit cards after more than three years of restrictions.

Last week, Guaranty Trust Bank raised the quarterly international spending limit on its naira cards to $20,000, significantly increasing dollar spending capacity for customers travelling abroad.

In a notice to customers titled “Important Update on Your GTBank Naira Card,” the bank stated that cardholders can now spend up to $20,000 quarterly on point-of-sale and online transactions.

Previously, the bank maintained a quarterly limit of $1,000 for online and PoS transactions, while ATM withdrawals were capped at $500.

Other lenders, including United Bank for Africa, FirstBank, and Wema Bank, have also reactivated international transactions on naira debit cards.

UBA, in a notice to customers, said the development aligns with its commitment to delivering seamless and enhanced banking services.

Foreign investment in telecom sector falls 91% despite tariff hike

By: Tijani Salako

Foreign investment into Nigeria's telecommunications sector plunged by 91 per cent year-on-year to $7.24m in the first quarter of 2026 despite recent tariff increases approved to strengthen operators' revenues and infrastructure capacity.

This is according to the latest Capital Importation Report released by the National Bureau of Statistics.

The report showed that the telecommunications sector attracted only $7.24m during the review period, compared to $80.78m recorded in the corresponding quarter of 2025.

The inflow represented just 0.07 per cent of the total $10.37bn capital imported into the Nigerian economy in the first quarter of 2026.

A comparison with the first quarter of 2024 showed a steeper decline, as foreign investment in the sector dropped by 96.2 per cent from the $191.57m recorded during the same period.

The development reflects weakening foreign investor appetite for one of Nigeria's key infrastructure sectors despite regulatory efforts aimed at improving profitability and service delivery.

In January 2025, the Nigerian Communications Commission approved an increase in telecommunications tariffs, marking the first major adjustment since 2013 following sustained pressure from operators seeking a review of pricing structures amid rising operational costs.

Speaking on the decision at the time, the Minister of Communications, Innovation and Digital Economy, BosunTijani, said the tariff review would enable telecommunications companies to expand infrastructure investment and improve service quality nationwide.

Beyond telecommunications, the NBS report showed that several productive sectors recorded mixed performances in foreign capital inflows during the first quarter of 2026 when compared with previous years.

The production and manufacturing sector attracted $152.27m during the period, up from $129.92m recorded in the corresponding quarter of 2025. However, the figure remained below the $191.52m received in the first quarter of 2024.

Similarly, the trading sector recorded $65.79m in foreign capital inflows in the first quarter of 2026, representing an increase from the $34.39m attracted in the same period of 2025. Despite the improvement, inflows were significantly lower than the $494.33m recorded in the corresponding quarter of 2024.

The electrical sector recorded one of the sharpest declines among productive sectors, attracting only $2.7m during the quarter. This was lower than the $9.03m recorded in the first quarter of 2025 and the $58.93m attracted in the corresponding period of 2024.

Information technology services also witnessed a substantial drop in foreign investment. The sector attracted $11.33m in the first quarter of 2026, compared with $171.70m recorded in the corresponding quarter of 2024, although slightly higher than the $7.21m posted in the same period of 2025.

In contrast, the banking and financial services sectors continued to dominate capital importation into the country.

According to the NBS, the banking sector attracted $7.55bn during the quarter, accounting for 72.79 per cent of total capital imported into Nigeria within the period.

Nigeria targets fresh oil investment as NUPRC plans 2026 licensing round

By: Tijani Salako

The Nigerian Upstream Petroleum Regulatory Commission has said the 2026 oil licensing round will commence no later than the third quarter of 2026 following approval by the Minister of Petroleum Resources in line with the Petroleum Industry Act.

The Chief Executive of the NUPRC, OritsemeyiwaEyesan, disclosed this during a visit by officials of Meren Energy, formerly known as Africa Oil, to the commission's headquarters in Abuja.

Eyesan expressed satisfaction with the outcome of the 2025 Licensing Round, noting that the commercial bid phase would hold in July, after which preparations for the next round would begin.

According to her, the level of participation recorded in the 2025 exercise reflects growing investor confidence in Nigeria's oil and gas sector.

She stated that rising investments and improving crude oil production levels indicate that the sector has become increasingly attractive under the administration of President Bola Tinubu.

“We are fortunate that the President and Minister of Petroleum Resources have approved the 2026 Licensing Round,” Eyesan said.

“So, we are in the process of finalising the 2026 launch, which will happen latest by the third quarter. This is the make-or-break point and we want to ensure that we get it right.”

Actress Adunni Ade reveals daughter after two-year privacy

Actress Adunni Ade has revealed that she welcomed a daughter over two years ago, bringing an end to the privacy surrounding the birth.

The movie star made the announcement on her birthday in a social media post on Sunday.

She said the journey was difficult and involved silent battles that tested her strength.

According to her, the public saw one side of her while she dealt with a more personal experience.

She wrote: "Today, on my birthday, I'm finally sharing what we've protected for over two years.

"This wasn't an easy journey. It came with silent battles, moments that tested me, and a strength I had to grow into. While the world saw one version of me, I was living something much deeper, much more personal".

Ade said she and her partner chose to keep the birth private to protect their peace and enjoy the blessing without public attention.

"We chose privacy. Not because we owed anyone secrecy but because peace is priceless, and not everything good needs an audience. We wanted to enjoy our blessing".

She stated that not every single mother fits public assumptions and not every blessing involves scandal.

"Not every single mother fits your assumptions. Not every story is scandal. Not every blessing comes with drama attached. God gave me mine. Fully. Peacefully. Intentionally. Not "another woman's man", all in the name of clicks", she said.

Osuofia reveals acting career began by accident, says fame cost him his freedom

Veteran Nollywood actor Nkem Owoh, widely known by his screen name Osuofia, has opened up about the unlikely beginnings of his celebrated acting career, disclosing that he never originally planned to appear on screen.

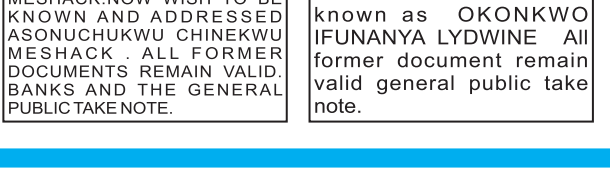

Speaking on the Selah Meditate podcast, the comic actor revealed that he started out in the entertainment industry as a scriptwriter, working behind the scenes before colleagues pushed him into the spotlight.

"My coming in front of the camera was an accident," Owoh said. "I was a scriptwriter behind the scenes, and people started telling me to start performing in front of the camera."

He recalled that the turning point came in the 1980s, when television station ATV created a seven-minute stand-up comedy slot for him after crew members noticed his natural ability to entertain off-camera.

"They told me to come in front of the camera because I was making people laugh behind the camera. With much pressure, I came in front of the camera — and I saw that what I was doing, people were buying it. That was how my acting career began," he explained.

Owoh also used the platform to address the less glamorous side of celebrity life, warning aspiring stars that fame comes at a high personal cost.

Charly Boy slams Celebrities over silence on Nigeria's crisis

Veteran entertainer and activist Charles Oputa, popularly known as Charly Boy, has criticised Nigerian musicians and public figures for staying silent during the nation's ongoing security crisis.

The veteran activist urged top actors and musicians to use their massive platforms to demand social change, stressing that celebrities have a responsibility to reflect the true daily struggles of ordinary citizens.

Speaking ahead of the July 2026 launch of his new memoir titled 999, Charly Boy argued that famous entertainers often hold more influence over the public than politicians and should not shy away from national issues.

"They can do more. They have larger platforms than politicians. It won't hurt them to speak up or make music that reflects reality," he stated.

The Area Fada expressed deep concern over Nigeria's worsening security challenges, warning that the situation could soon boil over if the government and the public do not take immediate, conscious steps.

"It's going to explode in our faces," the activist cautioned.

He also noted that old parenting methods are no longer effective in guiding Gen Z and millennial children through today's complex societal challenges.

Denmark's Christian Eriksen collapses during Ukraine friendly

Christian Eriksen collapsed for the second time during a football match on Sunday during Denmark's friendly against Ukraine in Odense.

"Christian Eriksen is conscious and doing well under the circumstances," the Danish football association wrote on social media.

The association's statement quoted the national team doctor, Morten Boesen, as saying Eriksen walked off the pitch by himself and that his pacemaker responded appropriately.

"Christian is doing well and walked off the pitch by himself. As I see it, the pacemaker responded as it should.

"He was briefly unconscious but regained consciousness very quickly, and we were quickly in contact with him.

"He will now undergo further examinations at the hospital to determine what caused the incident. We are in ongoing contact with him and the doctors at the hospital.

"But Christian is doing well, and he asked me to send his regards to all the players and tell them that he was okay," Boesen said.

Galatasaray complete €75 million Victor Osimhen transfer payment to Napoli

Galatasaray have completed payment of the full €75m transfer fee for Super Eagles striker, Victor Osimhen, drawing a line under their financial obligations to Napoli and closing one of the biggest deals in Turkish football history.

The Turkish champions settled the final instalment of €17.5 million, bringing to an end a payment structure agreed when Osimhen's permanent move was finalised in July 2025.

Under the terms of the agreement, Galatasaray paid €40m upfront, with the remaining €35m split into two instalments of €17.5m. The final payment was originally due before the end of 2026.

According to Turkish journalist Ali Naci Küçük, the early completion of the payment plan strengthens Galatasaray's position ahead of the summer transfer window, with the club no longer carrying any liabilities linked to the striker's signing.

Osimhen's transfer remains the most expensive incoming deal in Turkish football, eclipsing Fenerbahce's €20m acquisition of Youssef En-Nesyri from Sevilla FC.

The agreement with Napoli also included a clause entitling the Italian club to 10 per cent of any future profit from Osimhen's next transfer. Another key provision prevents Galatasaray from selling the forward to a Serie A club before 2027 without incurring a significant penalty.

The clause, reportedly inserted by Napoli president Aurelio De Laurentiis, would require Galatasaray to pay double the total transfer fee if Osimhen returns to Italy to join a domestic rival before the agreed date.

Osimhen's relationship with Napoli deteriorated after the 2022/23 campaign, despite his pivotal role in delivering the club's first Serie A title in 33 years. The Nigerian finished that season as the league's leading scorer with 26 goals.

Although he signed a lucrative contract extension in December 2023 that made him Napoli's highest-paid player, tensions increased during a difficult 2023/24 season. The club's rejection of a reported $170m bid from Al Ahli further widened the divide.

The striker eventually joined Galatasaray on loan for the 2024/25 campaign and produced a remarkable return of 37 goals and eight assists across all competitions, the most prolific single-season output in the Istanbul club's recent history.

Those performances convinced Galatasaray to push for a permanent deal. After weeks of negotiations over payment terms and banking guarantees, the transfer was completed in July 2025.

Recall that Osimhen signed a four-year contract reportedly worth €15m net per season in guaranteed wages, alongside bonuses and image-rights payments.

The 27-year-old continued his impact in his first full season as a permanent Galatasaray player, scoring 22 goals and registering eight assists in 33 appearances. His contributions helped the club secure a fourth consecutive Süper Lig title and reach the UEFA Champions League round of 16.

Despite settling the transfer fee in full, speculation over Osimhen's future remains intense. European heavyweights Real Madrid CF, Chelsea FC, Arsenal FC and FC Bayern Munich have all been linked with the Nigerian striker in recent months.

Iran arrives for World Cup amid visa dispute with United States

Iran's national football team has arrived in Mexico ahead of the 2026 FIFA World Cup, even as tensions persist with the United States over visa restrictions affecting members of its delegation.

The squad departed its training base in Antalya, Turkey, and landed in Tijuana, Mexico, where it will remain throughout the tournament.

The relocation followed weeks of uncertainty linked to diplomatic frictions and complications surrounding entry permits to the United States.

Although the players were granted visas to compete in their group-stage matches on US soil, several officials and support staff were reportedly denied entry or left awaiting approval.

Iranian sources say around 15 administrative personnel were affected, raising concerns within the team's management structure.

The situation has triggered strong reactions from Tehran. Iranian officials accused Washington of unfair treatment and urged FIFA to intervene, describing the visa restrictions as politically motivated interference in sport.

"You have now escalated the deliberate and discriminatory treatment against Iran's national football team to its highest level," the embassy wrote Saturday on X.

"Hold the US accountable for violations of its rules," it added.

Tensions intensified further after Iranian representatives claimed the team had been informed of strict entry conditions requiring players to enter the US only on match days and leave immediately after games, a claim that contrasts with standard World Cup logistics and has added confusion to travel arrangements.

"The visas issued for the national team are multiple-entry visas, and the national team will arrive at the match venue one day before the first game and, for the following games, two days prior to each match," Alavi said.

Feyenoord sacked Van Persie as manager

This means the Dutch club will begin the 2026/27 campaign under a new head coach.

A terse statement released on its X handle on Sunday, read: "Feyenoord will start the 2026-2027 season with a new head coach. The club would like to thank Robin van Persie for everything he gave during his time as head coach."

He leaves despite leading Feyenoord to a second-place finish in the Eredivisie and qualifying for next season's UEFA Champions League.

Explaining the decision, Feyenoord's newly appointed technical director, Devy Rigaux, said, "We conducted a thorough internal analysis. In this, we took into account, among other things, the development of the style of play and the declining trend in terms of points total, both in Europe and in the Eredivisie.

"The conclusion was that it is better to start the next season with a new head coach."

Nigeria win three gold medals at African Taekwondo Champs

Amusan wins gold, sets Meet record in New Taipei

Nigerian sprint hurdling sensation Tobi Amusan produced a dominant performance to claim gold in the women's 100 metres hurdles at the New Taipei Athletics Open on Saturday, BSNSports.com.ng reports.

Amusan, the Nigerian national record holder, stormed to victory in a meet-record time of 12.72 seconds, despite running into a slight headwind of -0.3 m/s.

The 28-year-old powered clear of the field, underlining her status as one of the world's top hurdlers.

Chinese Taipei's Bo Ya Zhang took the silver medal in 13.17 seconds, finishing more than four-tenths of a second behind the Nigerian star.

The win adds to Amusan's growing list of strong performances this season and serves as a timely confidence booster as she ramps up preparations for major international competitions later in the year.

Amusan has a history of delivering under pressure, and her showing in New Taipei once again demonstrated the elite form that previously propelled her to global success.

Nigerian winger Zadok Yohanna joins Brighton in 5-year deal

Premier League club Brighton & Hove Albion have reached an agreement to sign Nigerian winger Zadok Yohanna from Swedish side AIK Stockholm on a five-year contract.

The deal, which runs until June 2031, will be completed when the transfer window reopens, subject to regulatory approval. Financial details of the transfer were not disclosed.

Yohanna, who turns 19 later this month, joins Brighton after emerging as one of the brightest young talents in Sweden's top flight. The winger impressed during his time with AIK, earning attention for his performances in both league and cup competitions.

Brighton head coach Fabian Hurzeler expressed excitement about the arrival of the Nigerian youngster, describing him as a player capable of making a difference in attacking areas.
